ASU American Indian Studies
Email: AIS@asu.edu | Phone: (480) 965-3634 | Fax: (480) 965-2216

Recent Faculty Publications

Indigenous Albuquerque
By Myla Vicenti Carpio

Dr. Myla Vicenti Carpio is a citizen of the Jicarilla Apache Nation and is also Laguna and Isleta Pueblo. Dr. Vicenti Carpio's research on is focused on American Indian History, Urban Indian history, oral history, gender and sexuality in American Indian societies, and decolonization.

Published in 2011 by Texas Tech University Press, Lubbock, TX

The American Indian Intellectual Tradition:
An Anthology of Writings from 1772 to 1972
Edited by David Martinez

Dr. David Martinez is from the Gila River Indian Community of the Pima tribe. Dr. Martinez is an Associate Professor in the AIS program. Dr. Martinez’ research focuses on American Indian intellectual history, art and aesthetics and religious studies.

Published in 2011 by Cornell University Press, Ithaca, NY

Native Historians Write Back: Decolonizing American Indian History
Edited by Susan Miller and James Riding In

Dr. James Riding In is a member of the Pawnee Nation is an Associate Professor in the AIS program and one of the founding faculty members of the program. Dr. Riding In’s research is focused on federal Indian law and policy, cultural resources, religious freedom, repatriation, and Indian histories and cultures.

Dr. Susan Miller is a member of the Seminole Nation and a freelance writer living in Lincoln Nebraska.

Published in 2011 by Texas Tech University Press, Lubbock, TX

Indigenous Languages Across Generations:
Strengthening Families and Communities
Edited by Mary Eunice Romero-Little, Simon J. Ortiz, Teresa L. McCarty with Ran Chen

Dr. Mary Eunice Romero-Little is from Cochiti Pueblo and is an Associate Professor with the AIS program and with the School of Social Transformation. Dr. Romero specializes in Indigenous language and linguistics.

Dr. Simon Ortiz is from the Acoma Pueblo and a Regent’s Professor with AIS and the ASU Department of English. Dr. Ortiz specializes in Indigenous literature and decolonization.

Dr. Teresa L. McCarty is the Alice Wiley Snell Professor of Education Policy Studies, Professor of Applied Linguistics, and Co-director of the Center for Indian Education at Arizona State University.

Ran Chen is a doctoral student in the Educational Leadership and Policy Studies Department, Teachers College at Arizona State University.

Published in 2011 by Center for Indian Education, Arizona State University, Tempe, AZ